There is a possibility that it does contain a body, but the headstones on-site would indicate NOT. Perhaps best to leave the plot as unusable. |   |     |     |                               |                                       |                                   |                  |                       |                      |              |  |  |  |  |
